Informal pictures in color of the Royal Family, taken at Windsor Castle, are featured in today's edition of the Times Weekend Magazine.

Seldom has any photographer captured pictures of the Queen, Prince Philip, Anne and Charles with quite the air of a pleasant, "ordinary" family brought out by the camera lens of Louis Jaques, a veteran of six royal tours.

'FLYING VACUUM CLEANER'

This is Britain's latest aviation achievement-a flying saucer that works. The Saunders-Roe Hover-craft, with a two-man crew flies like a helicopter and huffs and puffs along with a sound like the whine of a vacuum cleaner. Here ground control man gives signal for take-off in test at Isle of Wight. Circular vent in top sucks in air and blows it out below to form air "cushion." (AP Wirephoto.)

U.S. Ready to End Talks on Tuesday

GENEVA (UPI)-Britain warned today that the Berlin situation "may still become dangerous" unless Russia considerably modifies its threats and stalling at the foreign ministers' conference here.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan sounded the warning at a Conservative party meeting in North London shortly be-fore he met Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd for a first-hand report on the conference.

Lloyd flew home during a weekend recess in the conference, which U.S. officials say probably will be suspended Tuesday unless Russia softens its Berlin demands.

ARCHER PRAISES MEN ON SOMMERS 'ART WORK'

VANCOUVER (CP)-Chief Constable George Archer Thursday gave his crime detection laboratory a pat on the back for its work in the bribery case of former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers.

In his annual report he said the high standard of work by the laboratory was "evidence by the fact there was no cross-examination by the defence,"

The laboratory had restored writing and figures which had been chemically erased in ledgers, matched torn paper edges and proved sources of documents from matchings and markings.

Meanwhile, at Ste. Anne and St. Pierre, officials felt the worst was over as the river was holding steady after reaching a peak level of 18 feet Friday afternoon - three feet above normal.

In its wake, the river and neighboring creeks inundated thousands of acres of low-lying farm land, ruining an estimated 50 per cent of the crops in the area. One official said damage might reach as high as $1,000,000.

The publicly-owned radio and television system was established on a basis of complete independence. could not be safely established otherwise. For if it were ever sub-ject to the views of the existing government, if it must satisfy the whims of politicians in Parliament, then it would become nothing but political organ for the ruling party, an agency of propaganda.

From the beginning the CBC fought hard and successfully to maintain its independence. On a very few occasions in the past members of former governments attempted to interfere with the CBC when, as they thought, it had been unfair to them in its news reports or comments. In each case intruder was slapped down and did not intrude again.

THE RADIO COMMITTEE OF Parliament, we think, was wise, in demanding the right to members of Parliament have undertaken to criticize not only the finances but the programs of the for various reasons. fail to distinguish between those aspects of the CBC's operations that are the business of Parliament and those that are not.

Certainly it is for Parliament study the use of the money which it gives the CBC every year, to insist on knowing, for instance, what it costs to produce a television show. The CBC was wrong in releasing this information to adagencies and attempting to withhold it from Parliament.

But only the CBC management can decide on the programs it shall produce, the writers, technicians and actors it shall hire. If the Government and Parliament are dissatisfied with the present managers they should dismiss them and employ others, but whoever the board of governors and its executives may they must remain absolutely independent in their distribution of news, comment and entertainment. Politics, once introduced into the CBC, would eventually destroy it.

Heat-Equatorial and Political

AT A LESS CRITICAL STAGE A in world history then that af-forded by the European problem and the rise of Communist China, recent events in South and Central America would no doubt have gained much more foreign public attention than they have.

The overthrow of Argentina's dictator Peron set off a wave of unrest in other South American countries under dictatorial regimes. In some the feeling has remained underground; in others it has had active demonstration. The Castro revolt in Cuba was a part of this general trend, although its antidictatorial features are yet to be clearly delineated.

More recently, Panama, Equador, Paraguay and Nicaragua have been the scene of open protest and there will no doubt be other instances.

The Nicaraguan uprising was same.

perhaps the most seriously planned, erica, of course, can hardly be classed as an abnormality. But whereas the earlier pattern seemed to be replacement of one dictator by another, today the public demand for more liberal government is dominant.

The Latin American temperament seems to be particularly favorable to hot political passions and sudden coups d'etat. The people's manner of reform, in contrast to the slower but more permanent methods preferred by northern races, invites reaction with equal heat and violence. The longterm goal, however, will be the

Protecting the Accused

A NYONE WHO BELIEVES IN the Canadian concept of justice will approve efforts to guarantee an accused person an unprejudiced trial.

That is the principle underlying one of the proposed amendments to the Criminal Code now before Parliament. It seeks to prohibit publication of admissions or confessions during a preliminary hearing, or mention that such admission or confessions were presented at preliminary hearings until the later trial has been completed, if there is a trial, or until the accused has been discharged.

In its main purpose we believe this is a wise provision. It is not a negation of freedom of the press.

The intent of the amendment is to avoid the publication of material which could influence the mind of a juror before the evidence comes him in the proper form at the trial. That is a desirable protection supporting the principles that juries must be unprejudiced, and that an accused person must be presumed innocent until guilty.

It is not to be assumed that the section prevents publication of admissions or confessions read into the record as admissible evidence in the trial itself. On the other hand, the trial judge rules such confessions or admissions inadmissible as evidence, they should not be factors for jury consideration at all.

If, however, it is permissible to er to them in reports after the trial is completed, or the accused discharged, an interesting situation arises. The accused person may appeal the verdict of the court which tries him. He may win a new trial

As the amendment now stands seems possible that confessions admissions submitted as evidence at his original preliminary hearing may become public property before he once more faces a court for his second trial. That is one of the points in the proposed amendment which may receive attention as Parliament seeks to give an accused person proper protection and to avoid any suggestion of interference with freedom of the press.

Clear Warning on the Market

THE CITY ENGINEER'S DE-I partment has reported serious deterioration in the market building. The roof is shifting under its own weight and structural failure is apparent in 60 feet of the north-

This, surely, is clear warning that the old building has become a risk to those who use it. Faced with such notice from the department which should know, the council should act immediately to remove the hazard.

If the building is unsafe, it should be closed immediately.

That does not necessarily mean Victoria is abandoning the idea of a market to which small farmers nearby might bring their produce. A replacement could very well be a highly desirable feature of Victoria, both for residents and for visitors.

There is no justification, however, for a course of inaction which eaves the market open until the roof falls in.

We came here from Alberta-a few years ago where we camped and pic-nicked a lot in the woods. But we always cleared up our litter and burned what we could. Otherwise we used re-ceptacles placed for that purpose, or else all refuse went in the car to be disposed of when we got home.

Looking at the terrible mess left here by picnickers, I think a lot of people are in the class of pigs. At least they act that way. If a waste can is right beside them they just toss their empty bags, drinking cups and cigaret cartons on the ground.

We have anti-litter laws. How about getting these well paid police out of these comfortable patrol cars to check on such things?

I can't help but wonder what the owners of these nice homes along Willows beach must think when a lot of this paper mess blows up into their well-kept gardens. I know as I get enough of it myself from careless people.

That alarming news spread rapidly the communal grapevine, no secret being safe in a summer community. Mr. Snifkin soon observed that all the edboats passing his way would pause While their owners inspected his labors with peculiar interest. It was generally agreed that the old man had taken leave of his senses but nobody was much expected by everybody around here.

NOBODY objected either to Mr. Snifkin's concrete idol, for this community has become accustomed to many strange gods, including speedboats, tele-vision sets and even those potent spirits that come in bottles.

Under this reign of tolerance every man is free to worship as he chooses, and if Mr. Snifkin chooses to worship concrete, at the cost of exhausting phys cal labor, that is his business. he noticed with satisfaction that every-body gave him a wide berth and no more missionaries interrupted his religious exercises,

As the concrete grew inch by inch and his own bulk shrank proportion, ately by furious exertion, Mr. Snifkin reflected that he had not really lied to the young evangelists after all.

WITH perfect Christian piety he was indeed building a monument to the lost hope of the world. For in days to come, after this particular civilization had perished, some post-atomic ex-plorer, wandering in a new wilderness, might find this clumsy block of conleft around here and realize, with amazement, that creatures of some primitive intelligence had once inhabited this

No doubt, thought Mr. Snifkin, there would be articles in the scientific jourstrange, barbaric religion; practised around a crude altar, probably with feuman sacrifice. That also would be true, for Mr. Snifkin was conscious of a human sacrifice which had reduced him to a pitiable wreck by the time the job was finished. He was almost dead, but not quite, beside his altar while all his neighbors were very much alive in their speedboats, beside their television sets or in the worship of their bottled spirits.

BUT those gods would soon pass and only the awkward hunk of concrete would remain as a monument to better And thinking of the investigators who would study it long hence, Mr. Snifkin decided to provide them with some clues to our current civiliza tion, some indication of our contemporary beliefs. While the concrete was still soft he took a penknife and carved on the surface the rough shape of a speedboat, a television aerial and a speedboat, a television aerial and a bottle. These, he hoped, would give the future historians something to think

WHEN WE WERE VERY YOUNG

Mines Were a Gold Mine in the Days Before Heavy Taxes TWO years after Vancouver rose from

This sale marked the actual birth of Nelson which was, of course, to be-come the metropolis of the Kootenays and one of the most interesting cities in British Columbia. Sproat called the tiny community Stanley but the mining recorder, Henry Anderson, held out for the name, Salisbury. Each name had its own faction and neither would give in to the other until the booming town demanded a post office and it was of ficially named Nelson after Lieutenant-Governor Hugh Nelson.

This was just slightly more than

Sir Joseph Trutch was chairman, was reaping nice fat profits from its smelter which was roaring almost night and day treating ore from Toad Mountain mines. And three breweries catered to the apparently insatiable thirst of the prospectors; William Gosnell's Castle Frewery, the Nelson Brewery and Riesterer Brewery. All three were later wisely merged and formed the Nelson Brewery Company Limited.

ages in those halcyon days for successful mine owners or mine promoters. There were almost no taxes other than land taxes; no Workmen's Compensation Board assessments; no costly fringe benefits for employees. There simply gross revenues from which were ceducted operating costs—the rest was earnings.

The Hall Mining Company, for example, netted a nice 10 per cent in 1897; the Nickel Plate (in the Hedley area) in one year grossed $519,356, ex-penses were $255,370; dividends paid amounted to $168,000. The Payne Mine Rossland paid dividends of $1,438,000 in seven years while silver was at a record low price!

That lusty era came to an end; the niotor cars and paved highways brought the fabulously lovely Kootenays within pleasant driving distance of the populous coast areas; in the seven decades tince Nelson was born governments have cunningly devised innumerable taxes to bedevil the mining industry.

Today the great giants such as Con-solidated Mining and Smelting at rail; and Kimberley survive—and that another story.

I am his bet by putting out something sale up the experimental writing of the informed that the publisher needs to sell and saleable to begin with a sultry twentles "fransition" and all that and saleable to begin with: a sultry saga of catch-as-catch-can among the Bohemians in some expatriate colony in Mexico or Tangier, for instance, or the explosively unbottled wishful thinkings of a volcanic spinster who has prowled for years in a lush jungle of man-eating daydreams. (You call 'em, I'll mix 'em.)

There is nothing like this about Sheila Watson's "The Double Hook is a sensitive and imaginative study of a small group of people living in a remote and isolated "pocket of the Rockies," to borrow Professor Salter's phrase. There is nothing in the book to locate the area in any precise, geographical way and I don't think that the exact location matters at all.

Mrs. Watson is not interested in the "where" or the "why" so much as in the "how" of human relationships in community thrown entirely on lices. The picture that emerges is real in a way that a crudely "realistic" novel seldom manages to achieve.

I am the more impressed by this book because it seemed at first glance to be the kind of thing that I least admire. The first page is set out in

The only matter of concern is the abuse of the machinery of justice which is going on. The courts exist to settle differences and to enforce compensation for wrongs, of which being libelled is one. They are not conveniences for the press agent and the publicity man.

Counting Office Costs

ttempt to find out the cost of each bit of finished typing produced by their stenog-rapher's? Very few, acraphers? Very few, according to the report of a study just made by an office administration survey organization.

They have taken a long, painstaking look at working methods of a wide variety of stenog-raphers (girls solely engaged in typing, not shorthand or secretarial duties) and have come up with this price list: A routine letter costs the boss anything from 12 to 22 cents, a simple form runs from five to 13 cents, and more elaborate forms like insurance policies cost up to $1.65 each.

The total expense of a "typing station"defined as one girl whose primary job is typing, seated at a desk with a typewriter— was calculated and the survey found that in England the average total cost of such stations varied from $890 to $2,740 per year.

And for that money, how much time do the girls spend on actual typing? As low as 18 per cent and at best 66 per cent. Where does the rest of the time go? It's devoted to examining documents to be copied, queries, checking, etc. Also some of it gets used up on non-productive activities like washing, chatting and refreshment chinwagging about their outing with the boy friend on the previous night? Accord-ing to the survey, it varies from six to 16 per cent. That doesn't seem too bad,

Just how much time do the much

But in this regard it should be borne in point that no studies were made during the half hour of the day. The firms being surveyed agreed that "virtually no work was done then."

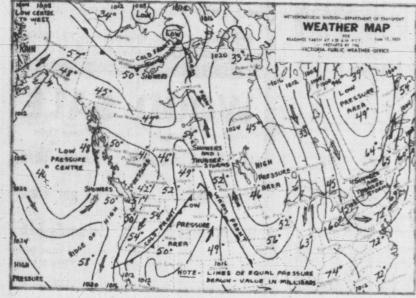

The gruesome jokes and don't get well cards which have been plaguing you for some time, I'understand, have now reached this country. A WRITER'S DIARY

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

Until last week I had read nothing by the Swiss writer Friedrich Duerrenmatt, and I picked up THE PLEDGE (McClelland & Stewart), with no great sense of anticipation. But I read it at a sitting (which is a rare thing for me, because I am a slow reader) and felt the shock which marks the difference between reading a book which is good, and a book which is extraordinary.

Among other pleasures, it gave me that satisfac-tion which is provided by a really good story—a kind of satisfaction which is connected in my mind, and that of many other critics, with some degree of guilt,

After ingnoring the fluctuations of the New York market high of $33 and closed at $32 in recent months, Canadian markets snapped back into line Wednesday when they bounced ahead for their best single session advance in 19 months. While gains were not as strong Thursday and Friday the market continued to move forward.

At Toronto, industrials gained almost five points on index. Western oils were down. Off a little more than one point, they touched a 1958-59 low of 121.69 on Tues-

Aluminium touched a 1959 up $1.25. Sparking its rise were reports of a good demand for aluminium along with rumors one of the motor companies would make big use of the metal in its small car.

Aside from industrials the markets had little to show for the week. There was little or no action among copper is-sues as investors mark time awaiting the outcome of wage negotiations in the industry.

There was a brief flurry among speculative issues but price moves with a few excep-tions were small. Four of the five most active mines at Toronto gained, while the fifth, Orchan, was only posted on the big board Tuesday. It climbed to $1.34 and closed at $1.15. Tombill Gold had the big gain, ahead 30 cents at $1.75.

Sam's Sad Saga

By OSCAR FRALEY

MAMARONECK, N.Y. (UPI)—It was cool in the gathering dusk — but not on the practice tee. The tall, slope-shouldered man blistered the air with his language and the fyry of his swing.

Sam Spead was steaming

At himself, you must understand Sam blamed nobody but himself for the 73 he fired Thursday in the opening round of the never never land which the U.S. Open golf championship is to him.

It left him four shots back of the pace in a frustrating 19-year guest for golfing glory.

Sam wethed He lashed him self with scorn, with disdain. He called himself a coward and gold-plated idiot.

ALL THAT'S LACKING

Because this is all that's barefooted kid in the Virmost famous players the game of golf ever has had.

But he has never been able to win the Open.

He was close. So close that the most fleeting of smiles from the fickle lady called luck could have made him a man above and beyond the likes of the Vardons, the Sarazens and Hagens, and even the Joneses and Hogans. Because if young Sam Snead -25 years young in 1937 when he lost it the first time had taken it then he admits he might have won it a half dozen times"

Three men have won it four That would be Bobby Jones, Ben Hogan and ancient Willie Anderson. So six would put the Slammer in a class by himself.

THEN IT GOT WORSE .

But a handsome curly. haired gent named Ralph Guldahl came swinging out of another dusk; after young Sam Snead had set a new National Open record, and picked up the golden marbles. After that it got worse.

Three other times he was cond, once losing in a play-f. Another time he threw it away with a horrendous eight on the final hole which made Slammin' Sam dear to the heart of every hacker in the world.

But at 47, even if you're as fit and strong as this man from the mountains, you don't have too many more chances Aaron.

So this was it. SAM REMEMBERED

Getting ready, Sam amazed Bruton, Logan, them all. He was splitting the AMERICAN LEAGUE fairways with his drives, employing his irons with the deft Kuenn, Detroit ploying his irons with the deft Kaline, Detroit touch of a pick-pocket and caressing home putts with a lover's touch. Yet he remembered the past.

"I always go good in prac Phillips Chicago tice," he said cautiously. "But when they ring the bell, I alwhen they ring the bell, I always seem to go through the DOW TALKS GOLF . . . NO. 24 Yet he was hopeful.

So Thursday in the first round, Slammin' Sam, a heartstring favorite from Florida to Fujiyama, walloped himself out a 73 which left him four shots off the pace and filled him once again with angry DRIVER LET HIM DOWN .

"Now I'm gonna stay here on this practice tee until I can hit a lightning bug at 300 yards," he growled. "I'm gonna know where it's going tomorrow."

Final Round For U.S. Title Slated Sunday

MAMARONEK, N.Y. (AP) —The fourth round of the U.S. Open golf championship was postponed until Sunday after-noon after rain, lightning and flooded greens caused delays of nearly two hours in the third round today.

Joe Dey, U.S. Golf Associa-tion executive director, announced the postponement, It was the first time in the history of the Open that a round has been postponed for any

By LEO H. PETERSEN MAMARONECK, N.Y.

(UPI) — Billy Casper, a hefty Californian who likes to eat and play golf—in that order—led the field by one shot today with two more rounds to go in what may be the greatest finishing scramble in the history of the U.S. Open golf championship.

For back of good looking
Billy was a star studded group of 20 other golfers with Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Arnold Palmer, Doug Ford, Gary Player, Cary Middlecoff, Mike Souchak, Dow Finsterwald and Jay Hebert among those chas-

"This could be the greatest voramble of them all " predicted Hebert, and Casper agreed.

"I just hope I keep driving like I did Friday, then I'll eat more than ever," grinned Casper, whose second round 34.34 68 gave him a one-stroke lead with a total of 139.

The occasion is the annual league meeting to consider the application for re-election from the four league clubs finishing at the bottom of the Fourth Division. Theoretically, any of them can be replaced by a qualified newcomer. In practice, it almost never happens.

Trying for the 18th time this season after an unbeaten record in the Midland League, Peterborough fell just six votes short of supplanting Alder-shot, a side that has never finished higher than 10th in its 27-year career in the league's lowest division.

RESENTS RULING

"I'm beginning to feel we'll have to win the Football Association Cup and then go out and beat Brazil, Peru and Mexico to get into the league," was the wry comment of Frank Stimson, the Peterborough chairman, when he got the news.

The arguments in Peterborough's favor are impressive. The club's ground capacity of 21,000 is more than 5,000 above Aldershot's. Its five-year aver-age attendance of 10,500 a match was exceeded last season at only four of the 24 Fourth Division grounds. The city has a population of 300,000 night within 20 miles, and no competing league side within 40.

Were You Right?

This young lad is really going places. He knows the value of a dollar - because he worked hard over the past year to buy this pony. He saved every penny and nickel by doing farm chores for his Dad.

While the Minister of Agriculture's budget at Ottawa runs into millions of dollars, he has to justify his expenditures down to the last cent.

His money comes through the Minister of Finance who gets it largely in taxes from Canadians such as you. When he spends more than he takes in, he must borrow from you . . . or else create new money. The creation of new money is one factor that leads to inflation-which means your dollar buys less and less.

The government has been spending more than you have been paying in taxes. To narrow the gap between income and expenditures, new taxes have been

You can encourage the government to live within its income by asking only for those services you are willing to pay for with taxes. Tell your M.P. at Ottawa that since you are trying to save, you expect government to do the same.

You also help when you save more by means of life insurance, savings deposits, and the purchase of government bonds. Your savings help to create a SOUND dollar; and this, in turn, helps to create job security for you and more jobs for other Canadians.

'Venetian Nights' Won

· The Theme

Mirtoria Baily Times SAT., JUNE 13, 1959 21

Flower-filled gondolas, Italian foods, Roman pillars and blue Venetian vases will help create the theme "A Night In Venice" for the fifth June Ball in the gymnasium in HMCS Naden on Friday evening, June 19. Miniature gondolas filled with pansies will centre individual supper tables and decorating the buffet table will be a gondola made of sponge cake, cardboard, royal frosting and gilt paint, floating on a canal of tinted icing. Cooks in HMCS Naden are co-operating to create

June Ball

The Setting

Mrs. H. V. W. Groos, left, wife of the commanding officer in HMCS Naden, is convener of floral arrangements for the ball. With Mrs. P. S. Cooper, wife of the commandant of Canadian Services Cellege, Royal Roads, she is pictured choosing blossoms that will help to create the Venetian setting. Flowers will also be provided from Government House, Work Point Barracks and by local florists.

Mammoth gondola, floodlit and decked with flowers, will float on the blue water of the swimming pool off the entrance to the gymnasium in HMCS Naden, to set the theme on the night of the June Ball. The gondola was built in the maintenance shop in HMCS Naden of wood from the centennial year HMS Commodore. Gold dolphin at stern, decorates the Admiral's barge on state occasions. Mrs. T. Housser, right, convener of decorations, assists as army personnel unload mammeth pink balls and white wire baskets that will be used in the gymnasium. Assisting her are Capt. A. 1. Gale. CD; Pte. J. V. Putz, in the truck, and Cpl. G. Cunningham, at left. Others assisting with decorations include Mr. Cliff Rutledge, Mr. W. Fletcher and Mr. L. Marshall.

Planning committee includes, from the left, Lt Cmdr. J. F. Taylor, electrical decorations; Mrs. H. P. R. Brown; Mr. Courtney Haddock, president of the Armed Services Centre; Mrs. S. Dudley Markham, publicity; Cmdr. D. G. Padmore, arrangements, and Mrs. A. H. Bamford, committee secretary. Dual purpose of this annual subscription ball is to provide funds for the maintenance of the Armed Services Centre and to bring civilians in closer touch with personnel of the armed services.

Acceptances for the ball are arriving in increasing num-bers at the office of the Armed Services Centre. They are being checked and listed by Mrs. D. L. Macknight, at right, and Mrs. Rob Roy Macgregor. "It will be the biggest and the best," they predict with satisfaction.

Leaving the church after the ceremony, bride and groom, who are both members of the Colwood Trail Riders, rode to a reception in Met-chosin Hall in a carriage drawn by Maverick, a golden palomino. They received guests, under a white arch decorated with greenery and carnations. A three-tier cake was cut by newlyweds. C. H. Rennie proposed the bridal toast.

For a wedding trip to Port land and the interior of B.C. bride donned a beige and brown figured suit, white hat, and brown accessories. Her

Garden Party Invitations Go to Many in Province By ELIZABETH FORBES

Any idea that invitations for the garden party at Govern-ment House during the visit of Her Majesty the Queen and Prince Philip will be limited to the higher echelon is completely wrong.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross are determined, for this garden party, that people from every part of the province will have an opportunity to attend if they wish.

Invitations for the event have already been received by many British Columbians, including the precedence list, County Court judges, mayors and reeves. mayors and reeves.

They have also gone to chairmen of councils, boards of commissioners, chairmen of school boards, representatives of labor, heads of charitable organizations; to pavy, army and air force cadets and to boy scouts and girl Elizabeth guides.

Naval round rig will be seen at the garden party, fo

Lieutenant-Governor has invited a group of seamen in HMCS Naden and in ships of the Pacific Command. Invitations have also been sent to men of other ranks in army and air force. Veterans have received the gilt-edged cards and representatives of the Indian advisory committee.

They have gone to farmers in the Fraser Valley, ranchers in the interior and to those connected with fishing, forestry, business and other industries. When the replies are in, when acceptances and regrets are checked and recorded, then some further invitations will be known, further invitations will be mailed to complete the list terant flovernor and Mrs. Ross wish their guests, on this occa-sion, to be representative of all the people and not a few. It is also to be hoped that those who do not receive the gold engraved cards will take disappointment gracefully.

Informal pictures in color of the Royal Family, taken at Windsor Castle, are featured in today's edition of the Times Weekend Magazine.

Seldom has any photographer captured pictures of the Queen, Prince Philip, Anne and Charles with quite the air of a pleasant, "ordinary" family brought out by the camera lens of Louis Jaques, a veteran of six royal tours.

ARCHER PRAISES MEN ON SOMMERS 'ART WORK'

VANCOUVER (CP)-Chief Constable George Archer Thursday gave his crime detection laboratory a pat on the back for its work in the bribery case of former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers.

In his annual report he said the high standard of work by the laboratory was "evidence by the fact there was no cross-examination by the defence."

The laboratory had restored writing and figures which had been chemically erased in ledgers, matched torn paper edges and proved sources of documents from matchings and markings.
